

1 STATE OF WISCONSIN : CIRCUIT COURT : FOREST COUNTY

2 -----
3 ROBERT THORNTON,

4 Plaintiff,

81-CV-93
DECISION

5 -vs-

6 DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRY,
7 LABOR and HUMAN RELATIONS,
8 and INDUSTRY REVIEW COMMISSION,
9 and U. S. DEPARTMENT OF
10 AGRICULTURE, NATIONAL FINANCE
11 CENTER,

Defendants.

12 -----
13 Partial transcript of proceedings held in 14 the above-entitled matter before the Hon. Frederick H. Fowle, 15 Circuit Judge for Forest County, at the Courthouse, in the 16 City of Crandon, Forest County, Wisconsin, on the 6th
17 day of July, 1983.

18 APPEARANCES

19 ROBERT A. KENNEDY, SR., Attorney at Law and 20 ROBERT A. KENNEDY, JR., Attorney at Law, appeared on behalf 21 of the Plaintiff.

22 MELVIN H. JARCHOW, Attorney at Law, appeared
23 on behalf of the Defendants.

24 PROCEEDINGS

25 THE COURT: Reiterating the Court's recollection of the facts in this case, during the first five weeks of unemployment which are at issue the wife of the claimant,

1 Mr. Thornton, was licensee and operator of a tavern in 2 the village of Laona, and that although the administrative 3 hearing has disposed of the matter of whether or not Mr.
4 Thornton actively sought work in that period, there's 5 nevertheless materials in the record that he did assist his 6 wife in housekeeping chores, et cetera, in running the 7 tavern. This factual situation is very easily distinguishable
8 from the case that the Court has in hand entitled Sue A.
9 Krueger, plaintiff, versus the Department of Labor and 10 Industry Review Commission and General Motors Assembly
11 Division, in that on the facts therein cited this lady was 12 actually making $400 by gainful employment which she 13 indicated that she was not employed. And on page 5, the 14 Court goes into the following language: The Court is 15 completely satisfied that under the provisions of Section 16 108.04 (11), forfeiture of future benefits may not be 17 imposed against a claimant who makes an honest mistake.
18 It is quite apparent that a forfeiture is to be imposed
19 against a claimant only as a result of his or her wilfull
20 act of concealment, not due to ignorance, lack of knowledge.
21 Clearly there must be intent on the part of the claimant
22 to receive benefits to which he or she knows they are not 23 entitled. No question that this recitation is a sound 24 recitation, particularly sound in applying to the facts in 25 the Krueger case here where the woman actually was collecting

1 $400 a week. This is not the case as this Court finds in the 2 activities engaged in by Mr. Thornton which were in the 3 nature of an accommodation to his wife in the operation of 4 her business. Secondly, in reviewing the briefs and the 5 arguments here, the attempt to reserve the matter of litigating
6 concealment which was made by the commission with reference
7 to the first five weeks was subsequently pursued by applying 8 a different standard than was applied to the balance of 9 the seventeen weeks previously at issue.

10                   The basic facts are found not to constitute 11 a grounds for reasonable inference that Mr. Thornton 12 intentionally concealed any facts relative to working. And 13 again returning to page five of the Krueger decision,
14 repeating the language that's therein set forth: The Court
15 is completely satisfied under the provisions of 108.04 (11),
16 statutes, forfeiture of future benefits may not be imposed
17 against a claimant who makes an honest mistake and this 18 Court will find that if the accommodation and services that 19 were offered by Mr. Thornton to his wife in the operation 20 of the tavern did in fact constitute employment, reading the 21 question that was posed to him in his application did he do
22 any work and answering the same no, constitutes a reasonable
23 and honest mistake because in reading the language work,
24 a man who's used to operating heavy equipment is not going 25 to consider housekeeping duties as work. He is going to

